EXAMINER'S AMENDMENT

An examiner's amendment to the record appears below. Should the changes and/or additions be unacceptable to applicant, an amendment may be filed as provided by 37 CFR 1.312. To ensure consideration of such an amendment, it MUST be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee.

Authorization for this examiner's amendment was given in a telephone interview with Mr. Donald Dowden, applicants' attorney, on Sept. 7, 2006.

The application has been amended as follows:

In the 2nd line of the abstract, insert --by flame spray pyrolysis-- between "oxides" and ",".

In the 2nd line of claim 2, insert --of the whole solvent-- between "75 %" and ".".

Cancel claims 20-27.

EXAMINER'S STATEMENT OF REASONS FOR ALLOWANCE

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: The applicants have limited their claim 1 and the claims dependent thereon to recite that the at least one carboxylic acid used has a mean carbon content of at least 2.2 carbon atoms, which distinguishes the claims from the process described in the article titled "Flame-made ceria nanoparticles" by L. Madler et al. which uses acetic acid (a carboxylic acid having 2 carbon atoms): please see the abstract of this Madler et al. article.

Art Unit: 1754

The applicants' composition claims 12-19 have been allowed because the applicants have provided evidence in their Table 1 on pg. 8 in their specification and also the discussion of the data set forth in their Table 1 set forth on pg. 9 in their specification that their composition has unexpected superior properties over the composition made by the process described in the L. Madler et al. article "Flame-made ceria nanoparticles" and unexpected superior properties are evidence of non-obviousness: please see the discussion of the In re Papesch 315 F.2d 381, 137 USPQ 43 (CCPA 1963) court decision set forth in section 2144.09 in the MPEP 8th Ed Rev. 3 Aug. 2005.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance.".
